University bill passed

Governor's signature needed to make legislature's action official

The bill to give university status to Eastern Michigan College passed both houses of the State legislature this week, and now awaits only the almost certain signature of Governor G. Mennen Williams.

According to the present legislation, the new name of Eastern Michigan University will become official on June 1, 1959, so that the June graduating class will be granted diplomas from the University.

The bill as originally passed by the Senate provided for the name change to take effect July 1. Because of the amendment by the House altering the date, the Senate had to take action a second time.

The new name will be the third title borne by the school in its 110 year history. Originally Michigan State Normal School, it became Michigan State Normal College at about the turn of the century. The title of Eastern Michigan College became official on July 1, 1956.

Teacher education will continue as a strong part of the program of the university. However, the liberal arts, business administration, and pre-professional programs must be expanded.

Other graduate programs will be developed in addition to the program leading to a Master of Education degree, which was started in 1953.

In the near future, the Echo will present a series of articles dealing with the significance of the new status to students.

Stoics to mark golden anniversary

The Honorable Judge James R. Breakey Jr., Judge of the Washtenaw County Circuit Court, will be the speaker at the fiftieth anniversary dinner of the Eastern Michigan College Stoic Society which will be held in McKenny Hall.

A former member of the Stoic Society himself back in 1918, Judge Breakey is also a former faculty member at EMC.

Membership in the organization is open to sophomore students with a B average or better, election being also based on service and character, with the college faculty and members voting on prospective members.

The Stoic Society is considered unusual in that it was the first honor society on the campus and it cuts across departmental lines. It never has had dues.

The late J. Stuart Lathers founded the society in the winter of 1909 and was the organization's sponsor until shortly before his retirement. Miss Martha Best, associate professor emeritus, served as advisor to the group for nearly fifteen years until 1952. The present advisor is Miss Margaret M. Robinson, associate professor of library science.

Forty new members of the honorary scholastic organization will receive their membership pins at the dinner and a special recognition is planned for charter members and former recipients of scholarships.

The eight scholarship recipients this year are Mary Moore of Pontiac, Dave Ouellette of Allen Park, Nancy Harper of Algonac. Hortencia Trevino of Pontiac.

Campus to join hands for WUS student relief drive

An entire day of campus-wide activities will spearhead the annual drive of World University Service at Eastern Michigan College next week as students here will be asked to contribute to the worldwide student relief fund.

An all-college assembly Wednesday morning and a day-long tag day on which contributions will be solicited are planned.

Three emergency projects of World University Service will receive top priority for the funds collected here and on other campuses this year. Money will go to aid Hungarian refugee students, refugee students from Algeria and medical students from Africa.

World traveler tells of voyages

Cannibal-ridden islands of the Pacific and uncharted, little known tropical paradises were vividly portrayed for Eastern Michigan College students Tuesday night by a famed, round-the-world traveler.

Captain Irving Johnson, skipper for a quarter of a century of ocean sailing vessels, held a large number of students spellbound as he told of visits to headhunters in the New Hebrides and journeys to the picturesque Marquesas Islands in the mid-Pacific. Beautifully-colored motion pictures accompanied Captain Johnson's talk.

Johnson was introduced by Don Alchin, an EMC student who accompanied the Captain on part of one of his round-the-world voyages before coming down with polio midway on the trip. Youths between the ages of 17 and 25 accompany Johnson and his wife on their regularly-scheduled voyages to other lands every one and one-half years.

Highlighting Tuesday evening's showing was a motion picture showing the discovery by Johnson's crew of the mammoth anchor of the H. M. S. Bounty in the Pitcairn Islands. The anchor had rested in a coral bed since the 18th century mutiny which gave the vessel its fame.

Tuesday's showing was an all-campus assembly program. The next college assembly is Wednesday morning, March 17, for commemmorating world University Service tag day here.

Childrens' works displayed in college gallery

Paintings, sculpture pieces and jewelry — all creations of children in Roosevelt, Lincoln and Rackham Schools — will be displayed for two weeks in the college art gallery on the second floor of the Arts Building beginning today.

Selected works will show how elementary and junior and senior high school students unconsciously use adult principles in their art work, according to Roger R. Armstrong, instructor and supervising teacher of art at Roosevelt School, who is also in charge of the exhibition arrangements.

Water colors, oils, tempera paintings, pencil and pen-and-ink drawing, jewelry and both cement and toothpick sculpture will be included in the show.

Editorially Speaking . . .

Editor's note: The following is a guest editorial by Alan Gibson, the president of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity.

This year, Alpha Phi Omega is serving as coordinator for the World University Service drive on Wednesday, March 18. We, along with the Student Religious Association, Omega Phi Alpha, Adahi, and the Circle K, need your help in making the project a success.

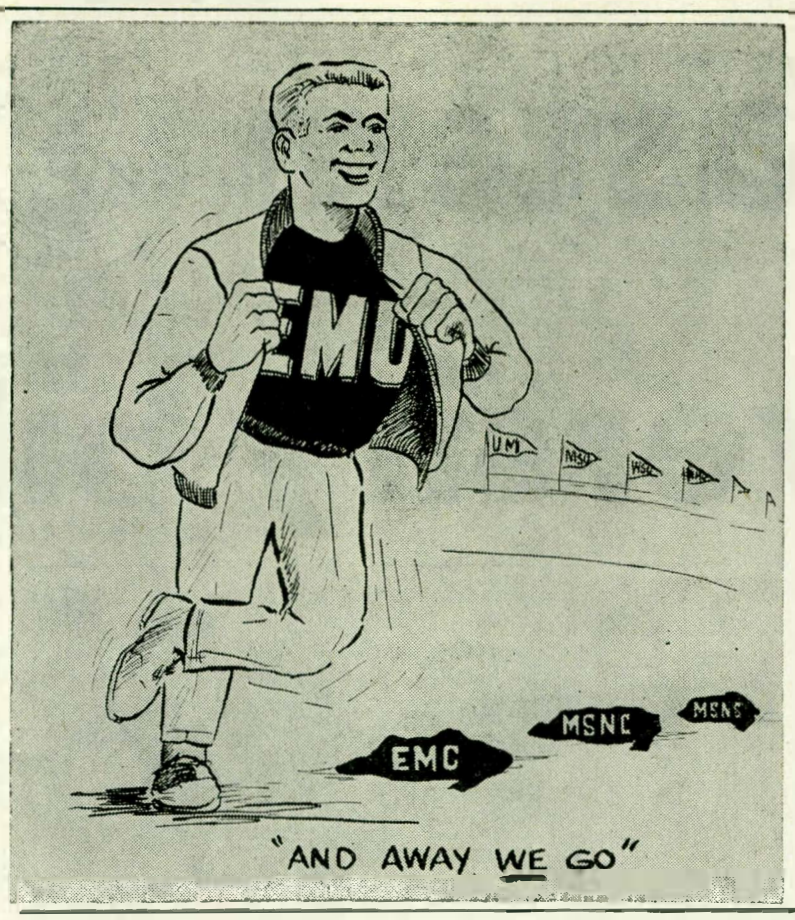
The drive will start with a kickoff assembly in Pease Auditorium at 9:00 a.m. and will continue throughout the day with Tag Day. As each of you contributes during the day you will be presented with a small tag bearing the insignia of the World University Service.

The insignia of the WUS is a symbol for truth and freedom in the world of tomorrow through an enlightened and more extensive student population today. The students of today are the teachers and leaders of tomorrow, and by helping in their education we are helping to ensure an enlightened government tomorrow. Thus, in our small way, we are helping people aid the future generations of their various countries.

The money that we give helps fight one of the greatest battles that mankind has ever been called upon to fight. Our money goes to combat the terrible and evil consequences of poverty, disease, and, greatest of all, ignorance. We are giving so that education may triumph over the forces of ignorance. We are giving so that truth will be more readily available to a greater number of people.

One small tag means so much. One small tag signifies that you gave so that men's minds may be free. Wear with pride the emblem that proclaims to the world that you are fighting for truth just as surely as the Hungarian Freedom Fighters fought for freedom.

It is one small tag on which the hopes of so many are anchored.



Senior women to be AAUW guests

Senior women graduating in June or August of this year are to be guests of the Ypsilanti Branch of the American Association of University Women at their regular branch meeting Thursday, March 19, at Starkweather Hall at 7:45 p.m., according to Prof. Merry Maude Wallace, branch president.

Miss Susan B. Hill, Dean of Women, will present the evening's theme, "Senior Women Look at A.A.U.W." Afterward, student guests will be invited to join in short demonstration meetings of typical branch study groups to get an inside view of how the organization goes about its work.

The A.A.U.W. used book sale held at McKenny Hall last week was the branch's main project for helping to raise funds for the Association's nationwide program of fellowships for graduate women scholars. $1100 was raised.

Selective Service Test

The Selective Service college qualification test will be given to college men April 30, 1959. State Selective Service Headquarters has announced.

The April 30 test will be the only test offered for the 1958-59 school year. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight Thursday, April 9, 1959. The test will be administered by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J.

Scores made on the test are used by local draft boards as one guide in considering requests for deferment from military service to continue studies. The test will be given at 28 Michigan colleges and universities.

Application cards and instructions are available from Selective Service local boards. Men planning to take the test should make early application at the nearest local board office for detailed information and necessary forms and materials.

Student deferments, which test scores have helped determine since 1951, have been a major factor in insuring the nation's supply of specialized manpower. Many students deferred under this program are today scientists, engineers and specialists in other technical fields and in the social sciences, teaching and humanities.

Since only one test will be offered this school year, students wishing to take the test must obtain 1959 application cards and instructions from any local board. Use of old application cards may result in students missing the test.

Letters To The Editor

Food situation

To the Editor:

Regarding a news story, in which facts are of chief concern, it is sometimes necessary that the details to a story be known to account for inadvertent, yet important, omissions.

Thus, I find it necessary to give the complete story regarding the article involving the handling of food in the Munson-Brown kitchen that appeared in last week's Echo.

It all began on Tuesday evening, Feb. 24, when a group of six men were engaged in a discussion in the Munson lounge. The rumor was presented that "dorm payments are going up next year," which is still a rumor. After a few other rumors regarding the Munson-Brown kitchen and other kitchens, one man, in representation of only his own feelings, came to the conclusion that there should be a sitdown strike if the rumors were true.

At this point, the men were urged to organize their feelings and to present their views to William Buckingham, Manager of Food Services, the following day. Thus, "some residents" (as the front page article stated) who "threatened to call a sitdown strike" were actually a few men who, including the man who made the sitdown statement, agreed that TALKING with the proper sources was the answer in solving any legitimate problems.

As a result, four residents organized themselves and talked with Louis Profit, Director of Self Liquidating Projects; Buckingham; and Robert Andrews, Assistant Manager of Food Services; the next morning at 10:00. Their views were acknowledged and necessary action was immediately taken to alleviate any legitimate complaints. This was the extent of the "demonstration" of which the article speaks, and the reason why the strike "failed to materialize," omissions in last week's story.

In the final analysis, I feel that our concern at Eastern, each in his own way as student, faculty, and staff, has been and is to work together for the good progress at a very highly recognized institution, of which all of us are a part.

Donald Kleinsmith,
Head Resident,
Munson Hall

(Ed. note — Last week's news article was consistent with all the facts available and with The Echo's policy of accurate news reporting at all times.)

The Echo welcomes well-written letters to the editor on any subject of general interest. They should be typed double-spaced and signed, although signatures will be witheld from print upon request of the writer.

Lax in our coverage?

To the Editor:

I was very pleased to read an article in the Echo last week about the proposed sit-down strike at Munson Hall. I think that it did a great service to the men of Munson as well as others that live in dormitories on campus.

I think that the Echo was a little lax in their coverage, however. Some examples of the unsanitary conditions that existed could have been noted. As a resident of Munson Hall, I have seen terribly spotted glasses, utterly dirty silverware, and occasionally poorly-cleaned dishes. One of the classic examples of this is a tray that I was once privileged to pick up. The day before we had pea soup and as I picked up my tray, I found the bottom of it smeared with dried pea soup. Top that one if you can!

Since our proposed disturbance conditions have improved considerably. But if better conditions are to continue a more systematic check of the dorms would be desirable.

Under normal circumstances I would not have written to the paper. But I am aware of a petition that is to be sent to the Echo. I would like to explain that many of the signers did not know what they were signing and that others signed that were interested in obtaining positions in the dorm. In a word, the petition is as inaccurate as they claim your story is.

I would like to sign my name to this letter, but I hold a position in the dorm that makes this impossible.

Unfortunately,
A Munson Resident

Unsanitary food handling

To the Editor:

Munson isn't the only dormitory which has trouble with unsanitary food-handling procedures.

I have noticed the kitchen girls serving food with hair curlers in the hair and without hair nets.

Glasses and silverware must be thoroughly inspected for food particles before they are used, and hair is often found mixed

"Passing Through"

On second thought

by C. W. Cheng

It should not be forgotten that the voice of the majority does not always establish good values for society. In many instances, the minority hold more constructive views than the majority.

I wonder how often we discern that many of our close friends and people whom we respect possess certain characteristics which are unexplainable at times. One of the spices of personal human contact sometimes rests in that we cannot fully understand people we associate with.

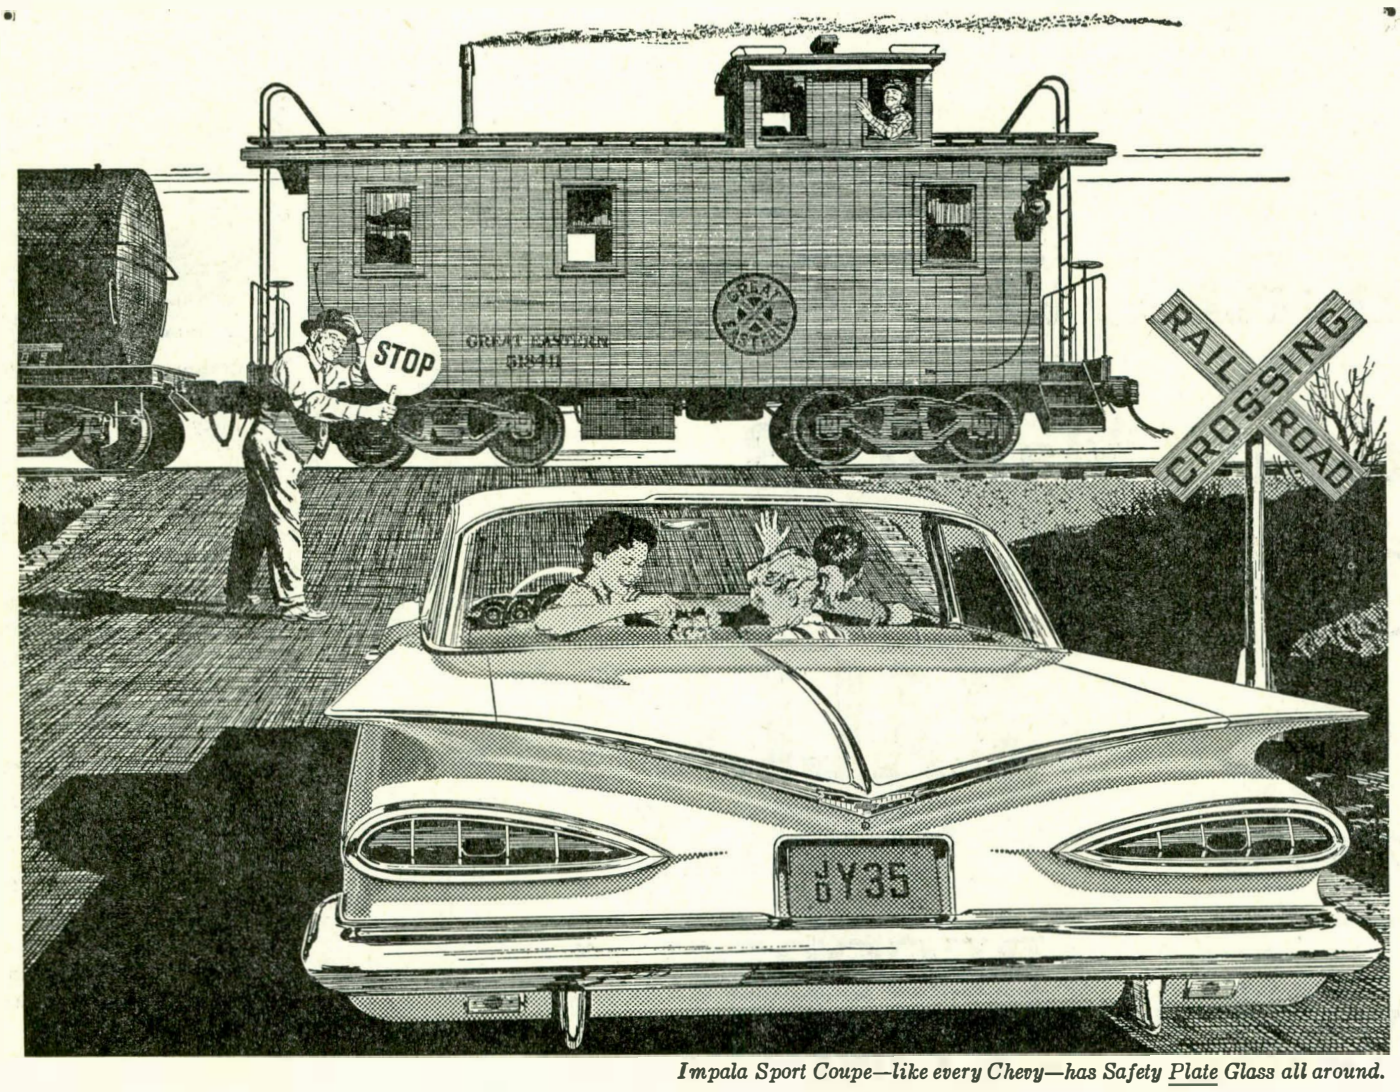
The term cynic seems to be a prevailing term directed at many writers today who have negative remarks concerning certain institutions and customs of our country. Unfortunately, people misconstrue this word for, in essence the labeled cynic is advocating certain reforms and he basically has a strong feeling of affection to society. He seeks an improvement for people and he becomes bitter only when he is totally frustrated by the apathy of the people.

One of the fruitful ingredients missed on our campus (and others) is a close personal relationship with many of the instructors. Invaluable information is gained through discussions and informal "bull sessions" outside the classroom.

OBSERVATIONS: It would be encouraging if more of our students could find as much extra time for college assemblies as they do for Greek rituals and idle conversations in their dormitories. "What's important at college?" would be a good question for them to think over . . . When will even the most conscentious students perceive that knowledge of the textbook is only a means and not an end to a studious approach? . . .

He who is a student and thinks constructively without putting his thoughts into practical effect is a fraudulent gift to society, but he who thinks constructively and performs physical, along with mental action, in putting his thoughts into effect, is a blessing to all.

Continual apology is not necessarily an indicator of a person's willingness to analyze all views on a subject, but rather, it illustrates a person's incapability of making any definite decision.



Impala Sport Coupe—like every Chevy—has Safety Plate Glass all around.

Chevy stops quickest... goes farthest on a gallon!

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR*. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 55 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you.

There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the dependability of its new brakes (with more lining area than any other low-priced car). But why not stop by your dealer's and let Chevy do its own sweet talking!

"Keep 'Star Spangled Banner,'" say nation's college students

Minneapolis — (ACP) — Generations of Americans have collapsed on the high notes of "The Star Spangled Banner." And many have wondered if maybe some consideration shouldn't be given to choosing a national anthem which is easier to sing.

To do so would be to break with a strong tradition, but this has not prevented a few hardy people from raising their voices in protest.

Associated Collegiate Press' National Poll of Student Opinion recently sampled the ideas of American college students on the possibility of replacing the Star Spangled Banner with some other song as our national anthem. Opinion is overwhelmingly in favor of retaining the present anthem, high notes notwithstanding.

Associated College Press, through student interviewers on campuses throughout the nation, asked the following question of a representative cross-section of the American college student population:

"There is some feeling that America should adopt a new national anthem. The reason most often given for this feeling is that the Star Spangled Banner is so difficult to sing. Would you agree with the people who think we should have a new national anthem because the present one is too difficult ot sing, or do you think we should keep the Star Spangled Banner anyway?"

Eighty-four percent of the students interviewed voted in favor of keeping the Star Spangled Banner. Eleven percent thought we needed a change, and five percent were undecided.

Nine out of ten of the men questioned were in favor of keeping the Star Spangled Banner while a substantially lower proportion — 79 percent — of the coeds felt the same. There was a bit more indecision among coeds than among men, however.

Neither group had many suggestions as to what should replace the present anthem. Only two men offered ideas, and both felt that a new anthem should be composed.

Five of the women offered suggestions, two of them agreeing with the men that a new song be written and three favoring "America" as the national anthem. Several felt, however, that any change would meet with strong opposition.

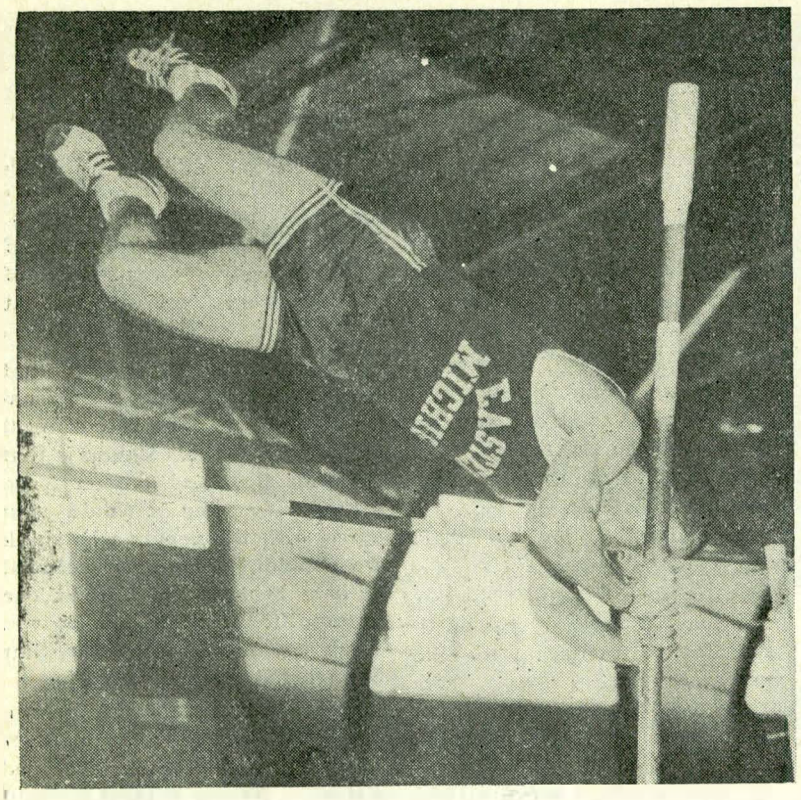
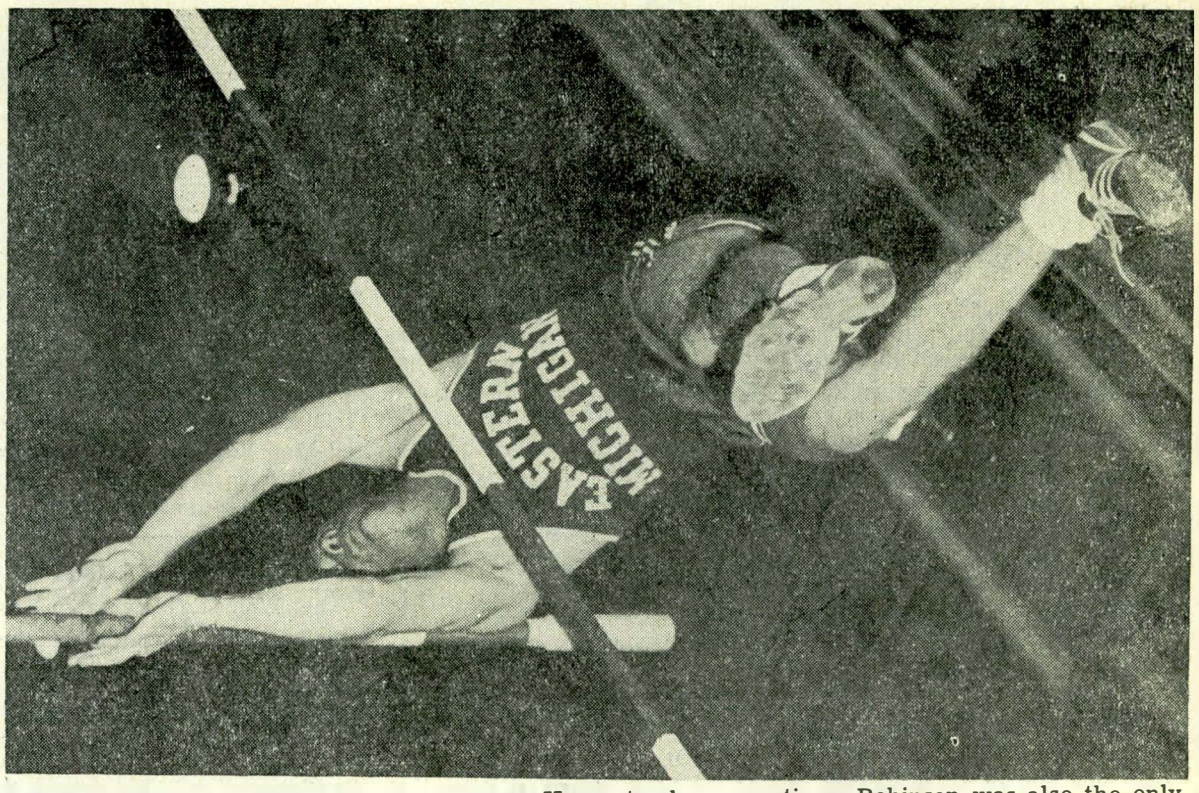
B. FRANKLIN, electrician, says: "Wildroot grooms your hair better at no extra charge!"





Jim Robinson demonstrates the form that has enabled him to be the second Michigan-born pole vaulter to reach the charmed fourteen foot mark. Jim is a senior and is captain of the 1959 Huron track aggregation. Robinson was also the only double winner in this weeks triangular with Wayne and Toronto.

Wayne, Toronto "eat Huron dust"; EMC wins another mismatch at Bowen

Over the weekend, Eastern's trackmen blitzed both Wayne State and the University of Toronto at Bowen Fieldhouse. Even without the illustrious Hayes Jones, EMC rolled up 91 1/5 points.

The effective, but somewhat slower, Huron cindermen almost tripled the combined totals of both Toronto and Wayne who tallied 11 3/5 and 25 1/5 points respectively. Coach Marshall, sensing the outcome of the meet, saw fit to send Hayes Jones to New York where Jones successfully met competition in the Knights of Columbus Relays. Jones won the 60 yard high hurdles with a time of 7.1.

The green and white team scored five-pointers in all but two events. In two field events, the Hurons had to settle for a tie for first and a second. The tie came in the high jump as Bryan Burwitz of Eastern and Vic Crawford of Toronto both crossed the bar at 5'10".

Although the Hurons did not finish first in the broad jump, they picked up six points to the winner's five. Frank Minkow of Wayne captured the broad jump with a leap of 20' 5½" while Jim Linfield, Jim Harrison, and Warren Jenkins finished second, third, and fourth in that order.

In all but one of the events with four point-getting finishers Eastern captured three places. Even in the mile which was the exception, the effect was not so disasterous, as Tom Bleakley finished second and Doug Carroll broke the tape at 4:28.2.

In the mile relay EMC was probably one of the few schools ever to take both a first and a second in that event. This was done as Coach Marshall attempted to get as many Huron cindermen as possible into the meet. Unfortunately, the second relay team did not count in the scoring of the meet.

This Friday Jones and Mauri Jormakka will represent the green and white at the Chicago Daily News Relays. On March 20, a few members of the squad are scheduled to compete in the Cleveland Relays. The following day, March 21, members of the team are scheduled to run in the Denison Invitational to complete the 1959 indoor track season.

Attention varsity club

All prospective members of the Varsity Club must sign up this week with Mr. Fox in Bowen Fieldhouse for the Varsity club dinner which will be held March 22 at 6:00 p.m. in McKenny Hall cafeteria. The reason for signing up is to determine how many members will be present.

EMC bowlers on top in new league

Eastern Michigan's bowling team has taken over first place in the newly formed Inter-Collegiate Bowling League via a four point victory over Highland Park Junior College Team No. 2 last Wednesday March 4.

The Eastern squad is led by John Dudek who has an enviable 187 average. The other kegglers have posted the following averages for the six games bowled thus far: Al Sebert 178, Bob White 175, Ray Bellore 169, Norm Vesprini 163, and Mario Valentino 161 rounding out the EMC totals.

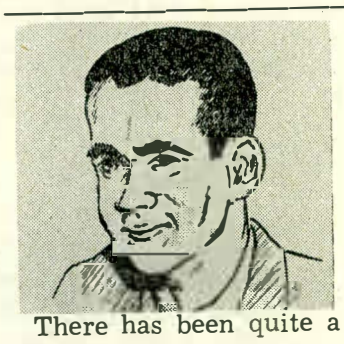
The league is comprised of two teams from Lawrence Tech, two teams from Highland Park Junior College, a team from the University of Detroit, and the EMC delegation. The teams do battle every Wednesday at 4:00 p.m. on the Star Lanes in Detroit and will play a round-robin type schedule.

Gridders told to get exams

Coach Fred Trosko has announced that all candidates interested in participating in spring football practice should report Monday, March 23, at 3:15 p.m. in Room 2, Bowen Field House. Each candidate must have had a physical examination approved by the college Health Service before equipment can be issued.

Skala calls golfers

Head golf coach, Jim Skala, has announced that he will meet with all varsity golf candidates on Monday March 16, in Room 2 of Bowen Fieldhouse at 3:30 p.m.



The Spectator

by Bill Forster

There has been quite a bit of discussion among students at EMC on the publicity or apparent lack of it given to one Hayes Jones of high hurdles fame recently.

The major offender in this case, as it appears to the casual observer, is probably the most widely read of all sports-minded creations, Sports Illustrated. This magazine has constantly ignored Mr. Jones when selecting the number one high hurdler in the nation. Instead, this honor has been bestowed upon Elias Gilbert (an eater of Jones' dust on five of six meetings) on the basis of Gilbert's world record in another event, the low hurdles. This seems quite ironic, doesn't it?

A public apology is in order to Charlie Crickmore, who was the unfortunate recipient of a blunder by this individual in the proof-reading of this page. In no sense of the word was Charlie "valueless" to the Huron basketball team, as a caption in the February 26 Echo described him. The proper word and intended connotation was "invaluable." However, I am sure that Charlie, being the gentleman that I know him to be took no personal affront from the misused adjective. I certainly hope that this apology will alleviate any resulting problems that Charlie may have been the victim of.

Grapplers finish fifth in conference; look to much better things in future

The Eastern Michigan wrestling team finished a creditable fifth in IIAC competition with 25 points at Carbondale, Illinois this past weekend.

Although Coach Bush thought that he could have possibly had two conference champs with ease, he is in the enviable position of having only one man (Sam Holloway) graduate from this year's squad.

Point-getters for the Hurons were Ron Brooks, third in the 130 lb. class; Sam Holloway, third 157 lb. class; Dennis Laurain, fourth in the 137 lb. class; and Mel Rasmusssen, last year's heavyweight champion, fourth in the heavyweight class.

In giving a run-down of the meet Bush stated that Sam Holloway was the victim of a childhood handicap, near-sightedness, and thought that he was tied with Guzak of Northern Illinois when he actually was one point behind. As a result, Sam was forced to accept third place as his fate instead of a deserved first.

Ron Brooks suffered similar fate in that he was barely edged by the later crowned champion, Edwards of Southern Illinois. According to Bush, Edwards was the only wrestler in Ron's weight class that could have defeated the ex-Ann Arbor High flash.

Preceeding the Hurons in this order were Southern Illinois, 115 points; Northern Illinois, 75 points; Central Michigan, 65 points; and Illinois Normal with 44 points. The two teams that followed EMC were Eastern Illinois and Western Illinois with eleven and fourteen points respectively.

Looking to the future, Bush sees only daylight for the wrestling program at EMC. Although the loss of Holloway is certainly a great one to any team, prospects are certainly good for next year, especially in the lighter weight classes.

Eddie Powers, an Eastern alumnus, has been selected high school "Coach of the Year" by the Detroit Free Press. Powers is a 1919 graduate of EMC (then Michigan State Normal College) and has been coaching at Detroit's Northern High School for 39 years.

While attending Eastern, Powers starred in basketball and baseball for the Hurons from 1917-1919. He graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education.

Eddie has met with outstanding success in his career as a basketball coach and physical educator at Northern. In honoring him the Free Press gave a glowing account of his successes at Northern in the Sunday, March 8 paper.

I do not wish to implicate any personal antagonism to the kitchen help, but it seems that they should take as many precautions to insure sanitary food practices as they can.

A Greek protest

Dear Editor,

Well, sorority rushing is over and the affiliated women can now get "back to normal." One sorority is happy over one thing in particular. It seems after one of the coke parties, some men (and I use the term loosely) borrowed the sign of identification from in front of one of the meeting rooms in McKenny Hall.

Of course, all of this was not known by the women in the sorority.

Monday evening the sign was found on the lawn of Starkweather Hall propped up by one of our beautiful trees. The sign was not mutilated, but it was damaged considerably, enough so that it will have to be re-finished. All of the light bulbs were taken and an ugly, rusted nail was driven through the top of the sign carving a very artistic split in the wood.

We would like to thank the parties involved for returning the sign so promptly. Hats off to you! We hope you are proud of yourselves for a job well done!

A Greek

"Three cheers!"

To the Editor:

Three cheers for the Echo staff who had enough gumption to exploit the food situation in Munson Hall in the form of a news article!

Needless to say, I have noticed some unsanitary practices in my dorm too. These malpractices consist of girls not wearing hairnets, resulting in hair being found in the food; silver being caked with food particles from previous meals; unclean glasses that have residue from soap solutions.

It's about time to remedy this situation!
